

WOOD HERE: IS HOPE FOR PHILIPINO FUTURE

Affirms Opposition to Independence Now.

Emphatic in body and manifestly confident in a succession of recent statements, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commander general of the Philippines, affirmed his opposition to the determination that independence for the Philippines now would mean economic and political disaster for the island area.

Gen. Wood is back in America for the first time in six years, having remained in the islands since taking the office of governor general in 1921. The arrival in Chicago recalled that it was just twenty-nine years ago that the Rough Riders' regiment, of which he was colonel, and the late President Roosevelt was lieutenant colonel, were first fired on by the enemy at Las Guasimas, Cuba, in the Spanish-American war. That engagement occurred on June 24, 1898. On July 1 the Rough Riders fought at El Caney in the battle of San Juan hill. On July 8 the then Col. Wood was made a brigadier general and Lieut. Col. Roosevelt a colonel for bravery in action.

Discusses Philippine Affairs.
The governor general arrived here yesterday morning, to remain until 11:30 o'clock today, and passed the whole of the time in his suite at the Blackstone. Despite his physical condition, which appears to have a depressing effect on Gen. Wood, though he said that the cooler weather of the last few days had done him a world of good, he discussed broadly the affairs of the Philippines during a brief interview at noon. His emphasis on the needs of the Philippines, as he sees them, indicated a sort of impatience toward the views of the inexperienced.

expects to be in shape to tackle his duties at Manila in the fall with renewed vigor.

Ambitious for the Filipino.
The general detoured adroitly at the suggestion of politics, either in the islands or at home. His nearest approach to the subject was his comment that he believed whatever clamor for independence may now exist in the islands is more of a political propaganda than sound opinion, and is to be found virtually only in Manila.

NUNGESSER SEEN ALIVE BY INDIANS, TRAPPER AVERS

Aviators Signaled They Had Provisions.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

CHICOUTIMI, Que., June 26.—Out of the woods south of Lake Ontario, forty miles north of here, came the trapper, Emile Bolduc, tonight with a tale that may explain the fate of the Frenchmen Nungesser and Coll, who flew out over the Atlantic from Paris one day last May.

Bolduc showed unusual excitement for one of these wilderness men as he repeated an Indian's account of a plane stranded in a lake and of two men who fought hunger on starvation rations while a band of Indians watched unmoved.

"I was on my way out on the morning of June 12," he told a group of newspapermen and M. R. Kane, manager of the Price Brothers Lumber company. "I was striding along the trail with a pack on my back, when I was joined by a tall Indian. We fell to talking. The Indian asked me about these things and what they meant. When I told him that many thought they were being sent up by Monsieur Nungesser, he told me his story."

The Indian's Story.
About a month ago, Bolduc quoted the Indian, an airplane fell in Lake 18, beside which the Indians were encamped. The Indians had seen airplanes before and were not frightened. They asked the two men if they had provisions, and the men made signs which made the Indians understand they were provided for thirty days. And so the Indians left them alone. The Indians broke camp on 18 lake a week ago. The white men were still there.

Three Planes Still Hunting.
After covering 15,000 miles of wilderness three planes engaged in the search for Capt. Nungesser and Maj. Coll circled today over the spot where a trapper heard an airplane motor last May 9. No trace of the French flyers or their White Bird was seen by the vigilant watchers from the skies.

The planes returned to the surface of the Saguenay river while the pilots considered further plans. The men do not intend to leave an acre uncovered in search for the birdmen, whom many think still alive.

BULLETS FLY IN BATTLE ROYAL AT GAS STATION

Bullets and fists flew and an ax was wielded in a battle that raged last night around a gasoline station at 67th street and Eberhart avenue, and took on the proportions of a near riot before the Woodlawn police arrived.

The fight started when six young men for some unknown reason set upon Charles De Board, attendant at the gas station. De Board after being slugged ran into the station and grabbed a revolver, which he started to fire. One of the sextette seized an ax and swung it viciously at De Board. By this time a crowd had gathered and joined in the battle.

When the police arrived the six who had started the fight leaped into two machines in which they had come and sped away. Police commandeered cars and captured them five blocks from the scene. At the Woodlawn station they said they were William Keenan, 6912 Michigan avenue; Thomas Burke, 6852 Calumet avenue; Emmett and Arthur Duler, 6977 Indiana avenue; Frank Cronin, 7019 Indiana avenue, and Jerry Flager, 1629 East 77th street.

COOLIDGE AGAIN WORSHIP IN TINY WESTERN CHURCH

Student Pastor More at His Ease.

Rapid City, S. D., June 26.—(AP)—President Coolidge returned today to the Hermosa Congregational church, worshipping a second time in this tiny structure and hearing Rolf Lium, 20 year old student pastor, preach another sermon, delivered perhaps a bit more confidently than the first of his career last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge listened attentively with the other folks of the countryside who crowded the church to the limit or stood outside to hear the plea of Lium to accept Jesus Christ as the ideal of life.

Refers to Elmer Gantry.
The blonde, youthful pastor spoke a little more slowly and confidently today than last Sunday. He reminded the congregation that Christ had a definite purpose in life, knew what it was and then fulfilled it. He said Christ was "unlike the Elmer Gantry of today who says one thing and does another." He recalled that some believe there is more dissipation among youth today. Such as there is, he said, is attributable to a lack of interest in life and a lack of purpose.

Oblige the Camera Visitors.
Upon leaving the church President and Mrs. Coolidge were quickly surrounded, many of the onlookers having cameras. The distinguished visitors stopped for a moment in response to a request from amateur photographers to take their pictures.

The road leading past the state game lodge was kept well churned under the bright sun throughout today. Tourists from far and wide vended their way past the summer residence of the President. A safe distance from the road Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge sat for a while in the warm afternoon on the front porch of the lodge and watched the stream of cars go by.

W. H. VANDERBILT AND WIFE DECIDE TO DROP DIVORCE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, June 26.—The latest rumblings from the Parisian divorce milt: The William H. Vanderbilts are said to have become reconciled and the H. H. Rogers to have taken their place as the leading American aspirants for the dissolution of their marriage. The parents of the former Millicent Rogers have established residence in Paris. According to friends of the Vanderbilts, parents of the divorcee, the couple decided to request a further hearing in the divorce court. Society is now interested in a report that Mr. Vanderbilt's mother, Mrs. Paul Fitzsimmons, formerly Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt and before that Elsie French, would seek a divorce.

$1,000,000 California Oil Fire Destroys Five Wells
Long Beach, Cal., June 26.—(AP)—Five oil wells were destroyed, four others were considered doomed, and many others threatened by a fire in the Alamitos Heights field near here tonight. It was believed that the damage would exceed $1,000,000.

VILMA BANKY WEDS LA ROCQUE AS 600 WATCH

Beverly Hills, Cal., June 26.—(AP)—A guard of 100 policemen was called out this afternoon to hold back throngs of the curious at the marriage and later at the wedding reception of Rod La Rocque and Vilma Banky, film stars. The police guard was formed at the Church of the Good Shepherd, where the ceremony was held and later formed at the hotel where the reception took place. Several streets between church and hotel were closed to traffic to prevent congestion. Cecil B. De Mille, film producer, to whom La Rocque is under contract, was best man, and Sam Goldwyn, the producer, who brought Miss Banky to the United States from Hungary two years ago, gave the bride away. More than 600 motion picture folk attended the reception. The couple left by train for Vancouver, B. C., where a two months' motor trip through western Canada will begin. La Rocque was born in Chicago, later lived in Omaha and entered the films by way of vaudeville and musical comedy. The marriage license gave him the age as 28 and that of the bride as 22.

Alex Grossman, 11, 2857 Cortez street, died of injuries suffered on Saturday when he was struck by an automobile driven by Iadore Kernes of 1224 South Avera avenue. Kernes was held.

An automobile driven by John Hart-struck at 234 and Leavitt streets by a car driven by an unidentified man.

An unidentified youth about 18 years old was killed when he was struck at Mannheim road and Lake street by a car driven by H. H. Stoddard of 411 North Cuyler avenue, Oak Park. Stoddard was held in $10,000 bonds for the inquest.

Steve Cates, 39 years old, of 1129 Ellis avenue, who was found unconscious at 33rd street and Dobson avenue, where he had apparently been struck by an automobile, died at the Burnside hospital.

Gunnar Faranilla, 24 years old, of 7580 Evans avenue, died of injuries suffered when he was struck at 79th street and Maryland avenue by a car driven by Melvin Brosseau, 7123 Woodlawn avenue. The driver was held.

An automobile ran down Paul Chan-nik, 66 years old, 12314 Avenue G, last night and inflicted injuries that might prove fatal to him. He was struck while crossing Ewing avenue at 101st street. Passersby took him to the South Chicago hospital. The police are seeking the driver of the automobile, who fled.

Condition of John Drew
Reported Extremely Low

San Francisco, June 26.—(AP)—The condition of John Drew was reported as "extremely low" this afternoon. For several days the 73 year old actor, suffering from arthritis and rheumatic fever, has been very weak.

A little ice cream with your luncheon

It is fortunate that good, wholesome, pure ice cream, as made at Henrici's, may be enjoyed by practically every person, whether in a robust or a delicate condition of health. In this respect ice cream is unlike most other dishes exerting an especially strong appeal to the appetite.

Why not ice cream for dessert with your Henrici luncheon today?

Mongolia, the entire territory comprising proportionately with that of England to the United States. All the rest of China, including Tibet, Turkestan and Mongolia, is split among the other nations.

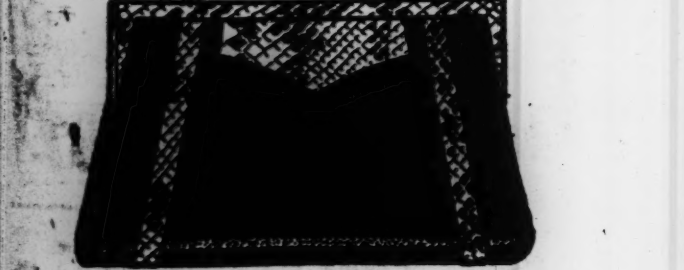

Because of the almost certain refusal and the danger of provoking a direct challenge, the generalissimo decided not to promulgate the revenue mandate to the remainder of China. Instead he is offering peace to the nationalist controlled provinces in a circular which lauds and accepts the principles of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, offering to cooperate with all except the advocates of bolshevism.

Expect Tientsin to Fall.
Handicapped by the lack of rail transportation facilities, which were all brought north by the retreating columns, the southern forces are making slow progress in Shantung. However, foreign observers anticipate the capture of Tientsin, capital of Shantung province, within a month. More time probably will be required to threaten Tientsin, at which point within a week the total foreign strength will be 8,000 men.

RUSSIA RALLIES YOUTH TO TRAIN FOR DAY OF WAR

Millions to Take Part in
"Defense Week."

MOSCOW, June 26.—(Special.)—A campaign is on foot throughout the Soviet Union for the promotion of military preparedness in the face of recent developments, which are regarded as threats of war. The period from July 10 to July 17 has been designated as "defense week" toward the success of which all efforts are being directed. Military sports are being advocated strongly as a means to awaken the enthusiasm of the youth of the country and the heads of unions are exhorting their members to rally around the Soviet Union. The organization is a combination of the old Aviatik with the society for the defense of the union, which was devoted to the construction of airplanes, the development of chemical war preparation, and the production of gas masks. SACCO-VANZETTI TRIAL MAZE OF CONTRADICTIONS

"Consciousness of Guilt" Convicted Them.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Staff Writer.)

ARTICLE 2.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(Special.)—Sacco and Vanzetti the Italians, whose conviction has stirred international interest, were brought to trial on May 21, 1921, more than a year after the murder of the paymaster, Frederick Parmenter, and his guard, Berardelli at South Braintree, Mass., while carrying the $15,775 pay roll of the Slater and Morrill shoe factory.

By that time the radicals had raised the cry that Sacco, the shoe factory worker, and Vanzetti, the fish peddler, were being persecuted for their archaic opinions. Vanzetti had been a contributor to a "paraphrase" paper in New York, both Sacco and Vanzetti were active radical agitators and in the possession of Vanzetti when he was arrested was found a handbill advertising a meeting he was to address on the subject of Attorney General Palmer's Red raids. Radical and anti-radical feeling was running high.

Obtain Seven Jurors.

The trial was conducted before Judge Webster Thayer at Dedham, a Boston suburb. As a result of the publicity attending Vanzetti's earlier trial, only 7 jurors were obtained from the venire of 500 takersmen.

Acting under statutory authority the court, instead of calling a new venire, ordered the sheriff to return 200 takersmen from the county at large. The jury was completed the following morning. It has since been alleged by the defense that the additional takersmen were "hand-picked" by the sheriff to secure men prejudiced against aliens and radicals.

Over the defense, at the time accepted all the jurors as satisfactory and the contentions made later were overruled by the Massachusetts Supreme court, which said that "the judge's finding that they were impartially selected, is final, no abuse of discretion appearing."

The chief counsel for the defense was Fred H. Moore, a western attorney with a reputation as a professional defender of radicals. District Attorney Katsmann was in charge of the prosecution. Sacco's English was poor and Vanzetti spoke the language imperfectly, so that an interpreter was frequently employed to assist the defendants in understanding the questions put to them.

Consciousness of Guilt.

The trial revolved around the identification of the defendants as the bandits, the identification of one of the six bullets taken from the bodies of Parmenter and Berardelli as a bullet fired from Sacco's pistol and the evidence of what the judge termed the defendants' consciousness of guilt when arrested. The prosecution was unable to produce any evidence tracing any part of the loot to Sacco and Vanzetti.

The employer of Sacco testified that the "pepper and salt" cap found on the scene of the murder resembled the cap he had seen the shoe worker hang beside his machine but did not positively identify it. The cap seemed to fit Sacco when placed on his head on the witness stand, though he said it was too tight. His wife said it was not his cap, that he never wore a cap with ear flaps.

Identification of Vanzetti's revolver as one taken off Berardelli's body was attempted but was inconclusive.

Testimony Was Unreliable.

A crowd had gathered immediately after the shooting and there were numerous eyewitnesses to the escape in the bandit car. Fifty-nine witnesses of this character testified for the commonwealth and ninety-nine for the defense.

The state produced five witnesses.

TOO MUCH GOOD BEER RUINS TRADE, SO ALE AT $1 PER TAKES ITS PLACE

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—(Special.)—Good beer at a reasonable price has become so plentiful in Milwaukee that roadside keepers have found competition too keen at prevailing rates. The result is a fake Canadian ale, which, when beautifully labeled, will bring a dollar a bottle from the thirsty, who cannot distinguish between it and the common or garden variety dispensed at twenty cents.

Federal dry agents last night raided the roadhouse of Frank Klein and discovered the brewery, together with the machine which affixes the fancy stickers to increase the price of the product more than 400 per cent. The Sarnia Brewing company, Ltd., of Sarnia, Ont., suffered forgery of its label to elevate the standing of the home brew. A 500 gallon vat and 1,700 bottles of the glorified brew were destroyed.

Klein and a waiter, C. George, were arrested.

who testified that they recognized Sacco as one of the men in the automobile. The other identification evidence relating to Sacco did not identify him at the time and place of the crime. Vanzetti was identified by two witnesses. One of these witnesses placed Vanzetti in the back seat of the car, which according to the prosecution theory, but the other had him driving the car.

The state's star identification witness, Mary E. Spolaine, gave a minute description of the man she had seen in the car, which description fitted Sacco, but the defense brought out that she had viewed the scene from a distance of 60 feet and had been unable to identify Sacco at the police station shortly after his arrest.

Both Produce Alibis.

Alibi evidence was introduced in behalf of both men. Witnesses were put on the stand who testified that they had seen Vanzetti in Plymouth selling fish on the day of the Braintree crime. Sacco, who rarely missed a day at the shoe factory, was absent on April 15 but the defense sought to prove that he had spent the day in Boston getting a passport, and a deposition from the Italian consul was offered to show that he had in fact visited the consulate.

Judge Thayer stated, in an opinion denying a motion for a new trial, that the verdict in the Sacco-Vanzetti case was not grounded on the eyewitness testimony.

"These verdicts," he said, "did not rest, in my judgment, upon the testimony of eyewitnesses, for the defendants, as it was, called more witnesses than the commonwealth, who testified that neither of the defendants was in the bandit car. The evidence that convicted these defendants was circumstantial and was evidence that is known in law as 'consciousness of guilt.'"

Both Suspects Laid.

The theory of "consciousness of guilt" is that innocent men, when arrested, do not lie and that men who are guilty have reason to conceal the facts and attempt to conceal them. It is this theory upon which the conduct of Sacco and Vanzetti immediately following the arrest became so relevant to the question of their guilt, for upon their arrest both men were questioned by the police and lied frequently in response to the questioning. The conduct of both Sacco and Vanzetti when they called for Boda's automobile, the fact that they partly followed the garage proprietor's wife to the telephone and then immediately left without using the automobile, was claimed by the commonwealth to show such consciousness of guilt. The defense contended that their leaving was due to the advice that they should not run the car without 1920 license plates.

The defense contended that Sacco and Vanzetti were indeed conscious of guilt, but of a guilt different from that of murder—namely, the guilt of offensive radicalism. They pointed to the terrorism that Attorney General Palmer's Red raids had inspired among radical aliens. When the arrests were made the department of justice campaign was at its height, and it was stressed that the activities of federal agents were particularly pronounced throughout New England, where hundreds of aliens charged with being Reds were in process of being rounded up for deportation.

The day before Sacco and Vanzetti were arrested they had learned of the death of Salgado, a friend of Vanzetti, whose body had been found on the sidewalk after he had been arrested and held incommunicado in a building in New York by department of justice agents. This, said the defense, indicated to the untortured minds of Sacco and Vanzetti the consequences that attended arrest for radicalism.

Vanzetti Received Warning.

The defense explained the visit for Boda's car as action following the advice Vanzetti had received from the Italian defense committee on a visit to New York late in April to collect the radical literature among his friends and dispose of it, so that there might be no evidence for agents seeking the arrest and deportation of radicals. That there had been conscious counsel of guilt when Sacco and Vanzetti were arrested had been clearly established by the prosecution. Up to the point at which the defense attempted to explain the guilt as that of radicalism rather than murder, the issue of radicalism had not been raised in the trial. It was not raised until Vanzetti took the stand as the eighty-fifth witness.

"Radicalism is forced in," the defense counsel later explained, "by logical necessity to explain the conduct which the government proved. They (the defendants) had to give a reason why they did these things. If they had said nothing they would have been convicted out of hand."

Decide on Radical Defense.

Vanzetti had been speedily convicted for the Bridgewater robbery. In that case his counsel had kept him from testifying, professing to fear his radicalism would be his undoing. Judge Thayer warned counsel of the danger of the step they were taking, and the likelihood that it would prejudice the jury against the defendants, but after an overnight conference counsel for the defense determined to make the radicalism defense. The issue thus opened up by the defense received prolonged attention from the prosecution, which claimed the right to establish whether the defendants were really radicals or were only shamming radicalism, and was maintained by the court in its right to question Sacco and Vanzetti at length, as to their beliefs.

It was subsequently claimed by defense counsel in arguing for a new trial that this contention of the prosecution was a screen behind which they sought to inflame the prejudices of the jury, in that both Sacco and Vanzetti were well known as radicals to the department of justice, were listed as suspects, and that this was known and acted upon by the prosecuting attorneys.

The next article, tomorrow, will relate the attempts to obtain a new trial for Sacco and Vanzetti.

DAUDET FREED HIS WIFE CAN COOK HIS MEALS

Merry Over Prison
Escape of Royalist.

Chicago Tribune Press Service.
June 26.—France is talking of releasing the escape of Daudet, the fiery royalist chief, and M. Semard, secretary of the communist party, from prison. The simple rise of a phone call to M. Sarrault, minister of the interior, had ordered the release.

Opposition parties are claiming that the government of Poincaré has made itself ridiculous and that the people of Paris are laughing. The escape is the theme of newspaper fun and stage cracks.

Police Find the Woman.
The police ordered to make a "communist investigation" and to lock the door after three horses had got into the first principle of the inquiry and cried: "Cherchez la femme."

They did not have to search far to find the woman. Mme. Daudet, wife of the royalist, it seems, had been cooking her lord's meals in a little restaurant which unlucky ones in Santé were fed. Then she heard that the monarchist chef in the restaurant was to be replaced by a republican. Probably the new chef would not let her put her pretty fingers in any more.

Madame went tripping to the office of L'Action Française, the paper, and told them that she must get Daudet out, lest long before the hour of his pardon on the day he should suffer from indigestion. Daudet had always been a weak stomach, she said, and she had always supervised his food.

Royalists Think Fast.
The militant royalist friends of Mme. Daudet were unable to resist the appeal of Madame, say the police, and inspired with the idea to plug the ears of the twelve phones into the office of the minister of the interior, while Minister Sarrault was out, they called on him and using the word to call Santé prison and

DR. WILSON TAKES BACK CRITICISM OF MELLON DRY RULE

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church with headquarters in Washington, D. C., last evening in an address at the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, North La Salle and Locust street, declared he would take back all the critical charges he had made against Mr. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, since Mellon's appointment of "two outstanding, sincere, and trustworthy" men, Lowman and Moran, as heads of enforcement.

He denied that representatives and senators voted dry and drank wet. "The day of the home drinker among our national leaders is a thing of the past," he said. "I live within a short distance of the United States senate and have fifteen congressmen living under the same roof and I have never seen one of them under the influence of liquor nor have I ever smelled liquor on the breath of one of them. The men who are running this government are not drinking men nor are they corrupt in personal morals."

Some of the papers say that the prisoners, once "freed by order of the minister," need never return to prison. But the government has ordered their return to cells.

Daudet and Semard, it was reported tonight, may voluntarily return. Semard rejoined his wife, spent a day at his office, and told reporters that he would return to his cell if his party ordered it. Daudet will insist on his wife preparing his meals in prison.

WAR SHOW ENDS WITHOUT MISHAP; CALLED SUCCESS

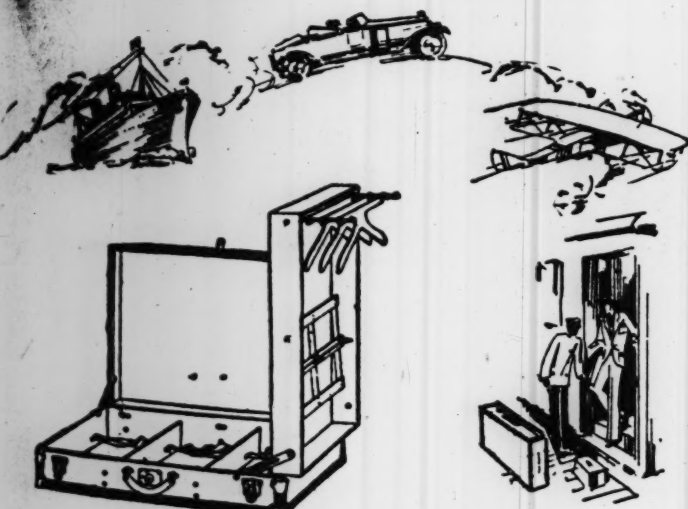

The war show, which closed last night after a three day exhibition in Grant park, was declared a success, both from the spectacular and the financial standpoint, by army officers. Last night's crowd was one of the largest since the show opened. There were no accidents in the three days. Sham battles, daring horsemanship and aviation stunts were the most popular features of the exhibition.

Despite the success of the show, the officers said it was doubtful that it would be repeated next year. They referred to the gathering of the personnel and equipment as extremely difficult.

FISH AND BIRDS RALLY TO AID OF MOSQUITO FOES

Play Leading Part in the Abatement Drive.

With all the units of local government participating, and with the problem of awakening the "mosquito conscience" of the public generally approaching some sort of solution, there still remains another and important element to be drafted into the campaign of abatement of mosquitoes in the Chicago metropolitan area.

This element consists of the natural enemies of the mosquito. The natural enemies are destroyers of mosquito larvae on the still waters of stagnant pools or streams and of the fully developed mosquito in the air. They consist of birds and fish.

While man may devote much time to the abatement of the mosquito menace, the natural enemies need only to be set upon the pests and they will keep up operations day and night and need little further attention. Certain varieties of top feeding minnows will live in the height of luxury if placed in shallow ponds or streams with shallow margins where the back waters offer ideal conditions to the female mosquito depositing her eggs.

Question of Development.

There has been some question in regard to the ability to perpetuate the most competent mosquito larva destroyers in northern waters, but it now appears that a Chicago citizen has established an all-year status for the most active agent, which is known as the gambusia affinis.

Emil Wetten, Chicago lawyer, who operates an extensive farm near Barrington, reports that he has brought his school of gambusia through the winter successfully, and believes he has established the fact that the voracious little larva hunter can be propagated as a hardy all-year-round inhabitant of the north for all time.

Within the last fortnight there have been numerous adverse reports on mosquito breeding nests sent in by persons interested in THE TRIBUNE's campaign, citing the presence of small lakes, pools of water, ponds and fountain basins maintained for ornamental purposes throughout the park areas, on private lawns or meadows and in public squares and spaces through the county. At first glance they appeared to be ideal breeding spots and the keen-eyed scouts immediately sent in memoranda on the find.

Many Stocked with Fish.

Inspection of these places by experts from Gorgas Memorial Institute disclosed the fact that, for the most part, these reservoirs were stocked with fish.

Authorities appear to have agreed that the most effective fish for the destruction of mosquito larvae is the diminutive gambusia, which is indigenous to southern waters. Many attempts have been made to propagate it in northern waters, but without success. F. S. Young of the Lincoln Park aquarium has yet to "be shown" before he will agree that the gambusia will stand northern winters. In the light of existing opinions, the experiment of Mr. Wetten becomes interesting. He says:

"For mosquito control I still have great faith in the gambusia minnow. Although advised that the winters in the north were too severe for them, I put two separate consignments into a lake on my farm at Barrington. I am convinced that I have been able to successfully winter them by a very method. The material is imported exclusively by Rogers Peet of New York, and the suits are made and tailored in their own shops.

Sturdy as St. Patrick's own stick, soft as the mist on the lakes in the morning, woven in tweedish patterns to please the fancy of any gossamer and to take the eye of any colleen.

NAB TEXAS PAINTER AS ORGANIZER OF ARMED INVASION OF MEXICO

Tucson, Ariz., June 26.—(AP)—Jose Gaudaro, said to be a painter of El Paso, was arrested here today and arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin F. Jones on charges of violating the neutrality laws.

Gaudaro is alleged to have organized on May 15 an armed invasion of Mexico and that on June 10 and 17 he equipped his expedition with arms and ammunition.

Border patrol officers, working in conjunction with the department of justice, unearthed a cache of arms, ammunition, and other supplies, which, it is said, belong to Gaudaro and his party. Gaudaro is being held under $5,000 bond.

easy process of aerating the water during the severest weather. I do this by the very simple method of placing a log, with a great deal of bark on it, at the shore of the lake, extending partially into the water.

"The most convincing proof that the method is effective is the fact that I was able to catch a good lusty gambusia this spring, although I have not placed any new stock in the lake for two years."

Mr. Wetten has also organized a flock of mosquito eating martins.

"I also have great confidence in the martin as a mosquito destroyer," he said, "because of their habit of feeding in the air exclusively."

Ordinary top-feeding minnows, gold fish, sunfish, and other small varieties are in use as mosquito larva destroyers in most cases, but authorities on the subject assert that the gambusia, which seldom grows larger than an inch and a half in length and can penetrate waters with a depth of only a fraction of an inch, are by far the most effective ally for mosquito abatement measures.

SHE DEMANDS TO BE ARRESTED AND COP OBLIGES HER

Miss Anne G. Allen, 28, of 1113 Lawrence avenue, demanded as a matter of principle that she be arrested Saturday evening. When a policeman accompanied her and took her to the Central station she changed her mind and asked to be released. But the police refused to grant her the feminine privilege of changing it that often and she was put in a cell.

Sergeant John Howe and Frank Patch of 1807 Throop street, whom he had arrested as an alleged moron, were battling at Madison street and Michigan avenue when the woman approached. Patch had one of Howe's thumbs in his teeth and was trying to gnaw it off. Howe was trying to save the thumb.

Miss Allen informed the sergeant he was a brute. He told her to go away and let him get his thumb back. She defied him and announced that she demanded to be arrested. So Howe let her go to the station with him and Patch. There she learned the nature of the charge against the prisoner and stated that Howe was doing just the right thing in hitting him. She turned to go, but the police insisted a request was a request. She will be arraigned for disorderly conduct today.

Military Rites to Be Held Today for Col. Moriarty

Members of the old 7th Illinois Infantry will give military burial today to Col. Daniel Moriarty, the regiment's former commander. Services will be held at Sacred Heart church in Morgan Park at 9 a. m. and the burial will follow in Mount Olivet cemetery. The United Spanish American War veterans and McShane post of the American Legion will join in paying the military honors. A squad from Fort Sheridan will fire the final volley over the grave.

NEGROES HONOR HOOVER FOR AID TO FLOOD VICTIMS

Pine Bluff, Ark., June 26.—(AP)—Three thousand Negroes of southeast Arkansas this afternoon entertained Herbert C. Hoover, secretary of commerce. Besides the large Negro audience, about 1,000 white persons attended the meeting. The meeting was arranged by Negro leaders of Pine Bluff, Little Rock, and towns of southeast Arkansas to express to Mr. Hoover the appreciation of the Negroes of the flood section of Arkansas for his work in behalf of the flood sufferers of their race. A large silver loving cup to be presented to Mr. Hoover.

OREGON CALLS WALL STREET AND ROME FOES

Would Continue Calles' Policy in Mexico.

SEASIDE CITY, June 21.—(AP)—Gen. Oregón, former president of the republic, who formally has announced his candidacy for the presidency again, now discloses his position on all questions affecting the republic. His statement treats particularly of the religious question, relations with the United States, and the treatment of American capital in Mexico.

His words generally are construed as meaning that he will not vary from the fundamental position of President Calles on the religious and all kind laws and that as a whole his reflection would mean a continuation of all the important policies of Calles.

Home and Wall Street "Enemies." Gen. Oregón refers to both "Rome and Wall Street" as being "enemies" of the republic. He makes a distinction between what he terms "honest" American capital and that of Wall Street, which he asserts "seeks to promote chaos and conflicts in and with Mexico."

He promises to facilitate investments by all honest American capital willing to cooperate with Mexico in the development of the country, but cautions that he will prevent investments by "parasitic" Wall Street "capital," saying he says, new attempts to provoke armed conflict in Mexico.

Proclaims Religious Liberty. The former president promises to uphold Mexico's sovereignty and its right to enact its own legislation with no limitation except that of international law. He speaks of "diplomatic notes from powerful states trying to bring pressure upon the Mexican government."

He declares for complete liberty of all cults, without any sectarian influence, and mentions protests from Rome against Mexico's religious policies.

The people, he says, need have no fear that this presidential campaign will bring about another armed revolution, because the other candidates will not be able to develop an army. "I will condemn any of my supporters, who may resort to violence," he promises.

Mexico, he argues, must develop propaganda and a taxation policy to check the southern states of the United States, which, he asserts, are boycotting various Mexican fruits and agricultural products and trying to boycott others.

THE Cathedral of St. John the Divine looks down serenely on New York. New York gazes reverently back.

A temple of enduring granite where the spirit of religious fellowship may be fostered, its massive Gothic beauty towers high above the city.

They laid the cornerstone thirty-four years ago and St. John the Divine is still in the building.

Look upon it now, before these years of patient labor have been forgotten. Contemplate the genius that laid out and built into the rocks of Morningside Heights those foundations on which this magnificent edifice may stand for the ages.

A stirring adventure, the Church of St. John the Divine. Its doors swing wide for all who have faith, regardless of creed.

To its bosom it draws those who place inner spiritual truths above varying rituals, people of all sects who still look upon religion as a moving force for living.

Great enterprises that enter fully, deeply into the lives of people require time; a steady, patient building-in of foundations.

Magazines too,—especially those that would win a secure place in public regard,—lay their foundations in their purpose to serve; and make progress as they steadily build themselves into the living interests of their followers.

Good Housekeeping's position of eminent influence in the American home has been nearly fifty years in the making. For more than two generations it has been expanding in the regard of American women through the high quality of its entertainment, its service, its inspiration.

Good Housekeeping is a magazine of warm brilliance; entertaining, alive, bright. Its distinguished fiction and vivid illustration take American women wholesomely out of the everyday into a world of entertaining fancy.

Good Housekeeping's features are inspiring, veined with a rare understanding of the concerns of women. It is a force in American life because it champions those human causes that enlist the leaders in women's work in every community.

It has crusaded for national legislation to aid women of industry needing help at the time of life's greatest adventure, bringing children into the world.

It has worked with and for the aims of the first American Health Congress.

It has given over its pages to a clearer understanding of the new relationship between husband and wife, between parents and modern children.

It has promoted those new methods of teaching that interest children and make of education a vital, human force equipping them for life's problems.

Good Housekeeping stands and always will stand behind the broad activities of women in the community.

After nearly half a century, Good Housekeeping is still growing in service, in inspiration, in influence—and will endure, and grow, for many years to come.

So strong are the foundations of Good Housekeeping.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

To such an extent has Good Housekeeping grown in the public's esteem that the July edition—

REPORT REVEALS VAST MOVEMENT OF FREIGHT HERE

1,150,138 Car Mi. Daily,
Rail Survey Shows.

Chicago's rank as the nation's chief cross-road of commerce was emphasized by railway leaders yesterday in their comment on a report by the committee of coordination of Chicago's terminals, just completed after three years of work. The work is pronounced by experts to be the most complete appraisal of Chicago's traffic facilities ever compiled.

T. W. Evans, vice president of the Indiana Harbor Belt railway, is chairman of the committee, which expended close to $75,000 in compiling the report. At least 87 per cent of the 34,721 freight cars having daily movement of some kind in the 1,750 square miles served by the terminals of the Chicago metropolitan district, directly promote Chicago production and distribution, the report reveals.

"The daily task of handling this terminal freight movement," says the report, "is carried on by a force of 32,350 employees. Some 307 freight trains arrive and 302 depart daily from the Chicago district. A total of 2,349 train movements of freight take place within the district every day, involving a performance of 1,150,138 freight car miles daily."

Growing with the city the terminal tracks in the Chicago district has reached a total of 7,726 miles, greater than the total mileage of all but a few of the greater rail systems. Thirty-two lines of steam roads radiate through the great crescent-shaped district extending from Waukegan, Ill., to Porter, Ind.

6 Per Cent of All Freight.

In the district is unloaded 6 1/2 per cent of all the railway freight handled in the United States and 4 1/2 per cent of the national total rail tonnage is loaded at Chicago upon cars for shipment to various parts of the country and of the world.

Nearly 30 per cent of Chicago's inbound rail tonnage consists of loaded coal cars and 10.8 per cent of live stock, the report shows.

BODY FOUND ON TRACKS.

The body of Archie E. Day, 35, a painter at Davenport, Ia., was found yesterday on the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks at Hamilton avenue. Apparently he had been struck and killed by a train.

WORLD HUNT FOR DE AUTREMONT'S COST $500,000

Spokane, Wash., June 26.—(AP)—It cost almost half a million dollars to bring the three de Autremont brothers to justice, Charles Riddiford, United States postoffice inspector who directed the man hunt for four years, estimates. Following their confession of the attempted robbery of a Southern Pacific train in the Siskiyou, Ore., tunnel, in which the train was dynamited and four men slain, Hugh Roy and Ray De Autremont were given life sentences in the Oregon penitentiary.

PRIEST CATCHES SUSPECT IN POOR FUND BOX THEFT

Joseph Beck, 36, of 1416 Willow street, was in custody yesterday under suspicion of having robbed the poor fund box of St. Leo church, 78th and Emerald avenue. The Rev. Father Peter Sheehy, pastor of the church, detained Beck until arrival of Detective Sergeant McCutcheon and Fleming, of Gresham police, after finding a crocheted hoop covered with glue in Beck's possession as the man knelt in the church as if in prayer.

According to police, coins sticky with glue were found in Beck's pocket, the theory being that Beck used the hoop to fish the money out of the poor fund box. Beck denied the charge.

BRITISH REVIVE POMP; HOSTS TO 3 KINGS, 4 QUEENS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, June 26.—All the royal pomp of prewar London will be revived here in the next few weeks as the background for the long heralded visit of three kings and four queens. King Alfonso of Spain, the first to arrive, last night was met at Victoria station by King George, the prince of Wales, and Prince Henry, with a great show of cordiality.

The next visitor will be Queen Victoria, the Spanish king's consort; then the king and queen of Norway and the queen of the Belgians. The queen of the Netherlands, accompanied by her daughter, Princess Juliana, will arrive the end of the season.

Another picturesque visitor will be King Pasha of Egypt, who already is on route. He will be the guest of King George at Buckingham palace.

Second Murder Trial of Fernakes to Open Today

Henry J. (The Midget) Fernakes, accused slayer, who was saved from the gallows by a State Supreme court reversal, is scheduled to face a murder jury for the second time in criminal court today. Chief Justice William J. Lindsay was forced to continue the hearing of the Fernakes case until now because of the trials of Albert Anselmi and John Scallia, Genna gangsters.

"HOW MUCH will you allow on my used car?"

THIS IS a commonly asked question, since most new car sales now involve the trading-in of the purchaser's used car.

Theoretically, you can get almost any allowance you want, if you are willing to buy a new car whose price has been arranged to permit an excessive trade-in offer.

Practically, the largest allowance is not the best deal for you unless the new car has been priced to give you full new car value, without regard to trade-in.

When you trade-in your present car for a new car, remember that after all you are making a purchase—not a sale. So be guided by these basic facts:

- 1 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value; i.e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.
- 2 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.
- 3 The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.
- 4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.
- 5 First judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

Your parties won't sparkle unless you do!

HAVE you ever noticed how much the success of your parties depends on how you feel? If the day finds you sluggish, head-achy or dull, all your skill as a hostess, all your most ingenious preparations, seem to go for nothing. You cannot get your guests "started," cannot communicate to them the party spirit.

And no amount of struggling with yourself, no amount of secret, panicky effort to seem gay, confident, full of infectious high spirits, does any good. If anything, it makes matters worse. You must feel well in order to be yourself.

Yet feeling well, if you are normally healthy, is quite simple. You may not have realized it, but that dull, loggy feeling often results from a sluggish intestinal tract. It is here that Eno, better than anything else, may help you. A dash of Eno in your morning glass of water promotes intestinal regularity—very effectually, yet very gently and safely. There's nothing harsh about Eno, either in its taste, or composition, or its laxative action.

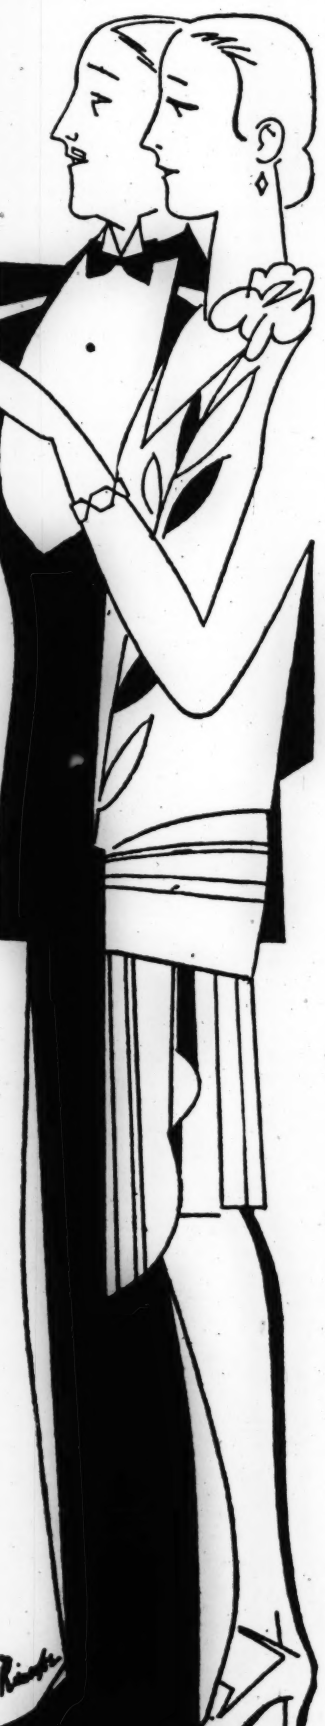

Thousands of hostesses have learned that some of the delightful effervescence of this famous saline is likely to get into their own conversation after a drink of it. Thousands of women find household duties easier and pleasures keener since they adopted the Eno rule of health.

Get a bottle of Eno today. A dash in a glass of water makes a cooling, delightful drink. You'll enjoy it.

ADDRESS

PASTOR DRAWS ALIMONY LESSON FROM SKEEZIX

Cites Octave in His Plea for Stricter Laws.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
More liberal laws regarding divorce and alimony should be enforced were urged yesterday in a sermon on "Divorce and Alimony," by Dr. John Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Chicago Temple.

Dr. Thompson referred with approval to the stand taken by Dr. Verano P. Cooley in contesting his divorced wife's right to alimony on the ground that she was guilty of immorality following the granting of the decree.

Draws Lesson from Skeezix.
Dr. Thompson also declared that Frank King's "Skeezix" cartoon in the Tribune, portraying Col. Henri Coda sending money to his wife, Mrs. Octave, for the support of Skeezix while she spent the money on herself and allowed Uncle Walt to bring up Skeezix, illustrates what has happened in more than one case in actual life.

"The Cooley case will, I understand, be brought before the Supreme court," said Dr. Thompson. "It is not for me to affirm or deny the fairness of the decision of the courts as the law now stands, but I favor changing the law so as to conform to a better sense of justice."

Urges Alimony Restrictions.
"Alimony is a temptation to divorce and offers a field for designing women to exploit her husband. Rightly used alimony is for the protection of women and helpless dependent children. Its payment should be restricted to such situations."

"Regarding divorce, there is confusion in the church and there always will be confusion until church leaders have courage enough to face all the facts. Divorce as we know it did not exist in Christ's day. There were then no courts of domestic relations with well-poised, sympathetic judges."

ROBERT M'ELWEE, LUMBERMAN AND BANKER, IS DEAD

Robert H. McElwee, a director of the Continental and Commercial National bank and for years identified with lumber interests in Lake Forest, died yesterday at his Deer-path avenue home in Lake Forest following a lingering illness of heart disease. Mr. McElwee was born in Lexington, Va., and was 69 years old. He had been identified with Chicago banking and business since 1875.

Six months ago Mr. McElwee went to California in hope of regaining his health, but returned in May. He began his business career in the banking house of Hunt & Co. in 1875, later being a clerk in the Merchants National bank. He was president of the Menominee River Lumber company and treasurer of the Spaulding Lumber company.

C. A. F. MABERY, NOTED CHEMIST, DIES IN MAINE

Portland, Me., June 26.—(AP)—Prof. Charles A. Frederic Mabery, 77, Cleveland, O., widely known chemist and art connoisseur, died here today at a hospital from a shock. For 35 years he had been head of the Standard Oil laboratory.

Prof. Mabery was visiting here prior to attending a scientific research conference at the Royal Society in London. He was a graduate of the Lawrence scientific school of Harvard university and from 1875 to 1883 served as assistant instructor of chemistry there, then assuming the chair of chemistry at the Case School of Applied Science at Cleveland.

His first scientific work had to do with the constitution and derivatives of furfural. He was an authority on lubricating and fuel oils.

BARRETT POKES A TRIPLE WITH BASES LOADED

25,000 Groan, Cheer as Tide Turns.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
Wild Bill Barrett, the snare voiced optimist from the banks of the Charles river, put something of his rollicking nature into his baseball bat yesterday afternoon, and as a result the Sox were able to win the final with the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 7.

Bill had been newly cast in the role of clean-up hitter in a batting order shake-up, and twice did cheerful business in the face of most dismal gloom. His single in the fifth for a time brought sunshine to depressed souls among the customers because it tied the score, and then, after the Detroiters had trained a four run lead, the rascally Irishman socked a triple with the bases loaded as the special feature of an exhilarating six run rally in the seventh inning.

Victory Surprises 25,000.
The victory was a great surprise to most of the 25,000 fans on hand, because the Tigers had tortured Tommy Thomas to the point where he was forced to retire in a sixth inning whirling in the meantime the Sox appeared in a panic and the generous raspberry showers given them at intervals by the bugs in the stands didn't seem to be helping much.

Comiskey staff psychologists consulted last night and figured and hoped that the surprise triumph might have the boys to snap into their tasks and win the next encounter. The Tigers have a chance today in a double header against Cleveland, the first two games of five to be played in three days.

The ball club's actual run for a base muffed by Ward, but the Sox managed to get out with a zero inning defensively and put over a counter for themselves. Metcalf opened the home first with a single, stole second while Peck was striking out, and went to third on the first of Bill Falk's three hits. Barrett then drew a walk to fill the bases and Metcalf got in on Shelby's sacrifice fly. McCurdy passed, to fill the bases again, but Kamm ended it with a fly to Fothergill.

Tigers Launch Attack.
The doling of the first inning apparently frightened the Tigers, for in their second they played on a more something terrible. Fothergill singled and Heilmann dropped one in front of Barrett for a double. Fothergill still stopping at third. The Tigers' fielder scored after Bill's long fly. Fothergill dropped a single in right, which put Heilmann across and enabled him to take second on the throw. Heilmann also singled, scoring Tavenner. Tommy steadied a bit then and Whitehill and Warner sent out easy flies.

The score was tied at 4 to 3 by the Sox in the fifth after two were out. Peck walked and came in on Falk's double and Bill tallied on Barrett's single.

Enter Mr. Connally.
The Tiger sixth was pretty disheartening. Gehring led with a single and Manush drove out a long fly to right center and both Metcalf and Barrett made beautiful runs for home. Metcalf got the ball, but lost it when he collided with Barrett. Gehring scored and Heilmann reaching second. Fothergill laid one safe, and Manush got in when Heilmann hit safely to right. Connally came into pitch at this juncture, and his Blue with the first ball pitched. Fothergill scored on Tavenner's sacrifice fly. Heilmann took third and Blue scored on a passed ball. Ward got Heilmann at the plate on Heilmann's grounder and Blue was out on an attempted double steal trying to get back to third.

With the score 6 to 3, the Tigers added one in the seventh on two singles and a fielder's choice, causing the Sox to go into the seventh trailing by four runs. Metcalf was hit by a pitched ball and Peck walked. Falk's hot one got past Blue for an error, billing the bases. Then Barrett tripled along the right field foul line. Shelby put Bill across with a single, and after Crouse had bunted, Stoner threw the ball far into right field, enabling Shelby to score from first and Buck to reach second. Crouse went to third on Kamm's infield out and was squeezed in with the sixth run of the season by Ward. Score:

Lott and Hayes Win Intercity Doubles Crown

Cleveland, O., June 26.—(AP)—George Lott and Walter Hayes of Chicago annexed the United States inter-city doubles tennis championship today with a brilliant victory over Frank C. Shields and A. F. Vonderhuth of New York. The result was 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Finals in the inter-city event were played off with the finals in all divisions of the Ohio state net tournament.

Shields, who is Walter Hayes' only 17 years old, and a former national boy champion, won the Ohio singles title by defeating Charles Leslie of Montreal, Canada, 2-6, 6-6, 6-3, 6-1.

DEMPSEY HOPES TO SHOW HE ISN'T IN THE DISCARD
Maps Out Busy Fight Training Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., June 26.—Jack Dempsey is ready to prove to a skeptical world that he is far from being through as a fighter. With three sparring partners, Martin Burke, and Carl Carter, a pair of willing heavyweights, and Jimmie McMullen, a granite-jawed middleweight from the Emerald Isle, on hand and ready to test his mettle, the Manassa mauler will start intensive training tomorrow for his 15 round bout with Jack Sharkey, at the Yankee stadium July 21.

Jack intends to hit the road in the morning for a five mile jaunt with Gus Wilson and Jerry the Greek, his trainers. Tomorrow afternoon he will conclude with a session of shadow boxing and a session of rope skipping, and conclude with a session of boxing with Carter and McMullen and two with Burke.

Walker Injured in Training for Milligan Fight
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, June 26.—Mickey Walker, who will risk his world's middleweight championship title in his fight with the "Praying Scotchman," Tommy Milligan, here next Thursday, had an old six stitch gash over his right eye, inflicted in a bout two years ago with Pete Lazo, reopened in a session with a sparring partner today.

Mickey, during the spar, wore a heavy leather helmet, but the hefty Tom Wood drove home three fast lefts, the last of which connected with Mickey's eyebrow. Manager Jack Kearns, inspecting the wound, said it would not interfere with Thursday's bout.

It was announced that the advance sale reached $27,000 (about $185,000 today).

PROMOTERS HIT SNAGS STAGING CHICAGO FIGHTS

Small Crowds and High Cost Kill Sport.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
What is the matter with boxing in Chicago? The question now being asked even by the promoters who have failed to make money on their promotional ventures. When the boxing bill was passed it was predicted by every one connected with the game that Chicago would be the fight center of the world. Many fighters and managers in other states agreed with the general opinion.

Instead of being a great fight center, Chicago is now rated with those cities and towns which can not support the game. One by one the promoters are quitting and the survivors can not hope to make much money unless conditions are changed.

In the first place, the fighters receive too much money. If the boxers were made to make a decent gamble with the promoters the game could go along, but under the present conditions the fighters want most of the money and promoters too high.

The ten per cent tax which goes to the state cuts quite a dent in the receipts. Many believe this tax should be cut in half as the five per cent would pay for any semi-win-up at a fair price through a fight. The first ten per cent which goes for the rental of a baseball park. On top of all this is the expense for advertising, the setting up of rings and lights, salaries of ticket sellers, ushers and many others who must be on hand for the proper conduct of any show.

Some fans maintain the prices are too high. A promoter must charge higher prices when a championship bout is staged. At smaller fight shows when $1, $2 and $3 are charged the fights are not patronized as expected.

Promoter James C. Mulligan staged the bantamweight championship bout between Bud Taylor and Tony Canzone at Wrigley field Friday night was lucky to break even. This fight should have drawn more than $50,000 as the scale of prices, $2.20 to $11, was within the reach of all fans. Mulligan had to give the fight $25,000 after the state tax of $4,000 had been deducted. Fifteen per cent of 90 per cent went for the rental of the park, and after Mulligan pays his other bills the fight may leave him in the red.

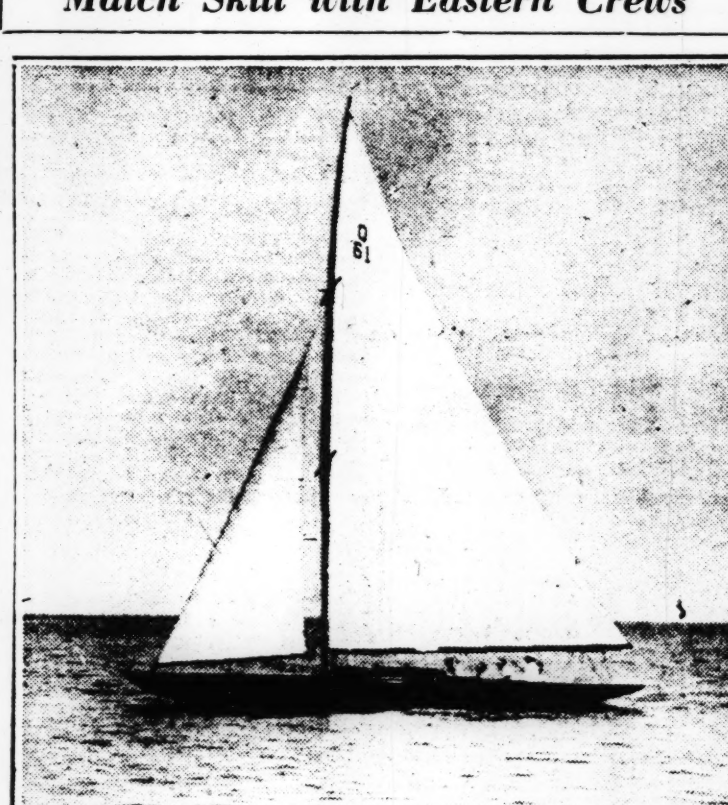

Strong Card at Logan Square.
Tomorrow night at the Logan Square baseball park, Promoter Neils Vierup will stage a show with Jack Malone of St. Paul and Lew Chester of New York in the windup. In order to make the show appeal to the fans, Vierup will have 5,000 seats on sale at $1 and $2. The windup will be supported by an excellent semi-win-up between Haakon Hansen, the Norwegian middleweight, and Howard Benz of Milwaukee. The preliminaries will bring together neighborhood favorites. If this show does not draw, then that part of the city does not want boxing.

The heavyweights, who have not been seen in Chicago to any great extent since boxing was legalized, will be on exhibition at the White Sox park Thursday when Jim Maloney, the Boston heavyweight who defeated Jack Delaney, but was beaten by Jack Sharkey, will meet Bud Gorman of Kenosha, Wis. The main event will be supported by three other ten round bouts composed of heavyweights. Promoter Joe Coffey will charge $1, $2, $3 and $5 for seats. It remains to be seen how well this show will be patronized.

Flowers vs. Rosenbloom.
On the night of July 4, Tiger Flowers, the former middleweight champion and one of the idols of the colored fight fans, will meet Maxie Rosenbloom of New York at the White Sox park. Promoter Fred Irwin will charge the same prices as Promoter Coffey. Rosenbloom arrived in Chicago Saturday to complete training, and Flowers will be here today.

What Promoter Vierup, Coffey and Irwin will attract the crowds to make expenses remains to be seen, but it is an almost certainty some or all of them will withdraw from the promotional ranks unless given proper support.

Match Skill with Eastern Crews

The crew of the Q class sloop Intruder, leading boat of its class on the lakes, will match its skill against the best crews of the east in the national championships at Marblehead, Mass., on July 2, 3 and 4. The Intruder is shown winning the third race of the Bennett cup preliminaries Saturday.

Yankees Play French Today at Wimbledon

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, June 26.—The Wimbledon annual tennis drama reaches the beginning of its climax tomorrow with the start of the men's quarter finals. It will be a decisive day for the American pair, Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, who will stack up against two of the four mucketeers of France.

Tilden, in tomorrow's opening event, meets Jacques Brugnon, who has played consistently for the last week without, however, doing anything spectacular. It is not expected Bill will have any great trouble polishing off Brugnon with his thunderbolts down the middle. But Hunter must face Henri Cochet, the brilliant Frenchman who is undefeated when in a mood to give perfection to his flashy strokes. If Hunter can keep on the offensive he may win.

Rene Lacoste, Tilden's Paris conqueror, must meet Kossuth, the Hungarian, on Tuesday. The result of this match is not difficult to predict. Then he will meet the winner of the Borotra-Timmer match, which also is easy to figure.

Although Betty Nuthall, the English marvel, is the Wimbledon management's biggest attraction, the women's finals, it is expected, will be a duel between the powerful drive of Helen Wills and the court craft of Kitty McKane Godfree.

LUQUE'S CURVES SURPRISE CUBS; REDS LAUGH, 8-5

Bruins Manage to Get Only Five Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Cincinnati, O., June 26.—An indefinable something grips the haughty Cubs and puts them on a doornail when they reach the Rhineland. Today the indefinable something struck them in two places, first in the vicinity of the mound where the Sheriff Blake was endeavoring to turn a bit of home-est labor, and then at short, where an obscure pebble precipitated an unexpected hop and brought on an eighth inning rally that counted three Redlegs and whipped the Cubs to the opener of the series. The count was 5 to 4 at the finish, making five out of eleven the Chicagoans have tossed off to the team that other members of the family use as a doornail.

Blake was an off-color workman because of his control. In the first half of the struggle he had only a vague idea as to the exact location of the plate and he either committed costly walks or pitched himself into holes that forced him to throw cringles and the latter was smacked lustily by the home breds. Due to these things the Reds were able to pile up a 5 to 1 advantage in five chapters and it looked as good as settled, but the Cubs put on a big blast in the sixth and tied it, only to drop by the wayside when the unidentified pebble did its bit.

Luque Stops Cubs.
The swarthy gentleman from Cuba, Adolfo Luque, handled Cincinnati's pitching assignment to the exclusion of all other members of the staff. If his engagement had been purely a matter of combating the Cubs, he would have slipped through easily, but his job was complicated by the tendency of his mates to live up to their tall end reputation. They gave the ball five pages or boots that were not according to our best major league procedure and some of these were converted into Cub dividends. One error let a Chicagoan cross the pan in the first frame and if it hadn't been for two other slips in the sixth the visitors never would have been able to shove themselves back into the game with their four run rally.

Adams opened the game with a single and continued to third when Zimmerman neglected to stop the ball as it bounced past. This misadventure caused $500 customers to groan as though they thought it was going to be just another one of those things as though the Reds have recently grown unenviably famous. Adams scored when Webb whacked a fly to center. This aim lead lasted only the second inning, when Blake started his campaign of giving until it hurt. Brenner led off with a pass, went to third on Hargrave's hit, and home on a sacrifice fly by Critz.

Reds Jump Out in Front.
Blake had another bad spasm of wildness in the third and with the help of a bad throw by Hartnett the Reds jumped out in front with three runs. Dreesen walked with one out and Zitzman singled. On Pipp's tap, Dreesen was run down at the plate. A pass to Walker jammed the corners whereupon Brenner slapped a single to center, driving home Zitzman and Pipp and putting Walker on third. Brenner then started to steal second and Hartnett threw the ball in for a terrific whereupon Walker stroled in from third. Another Red scored in the fifth on a fluke double by Walker and a single by Hargrave.

The Cubs got their start in the sixth when Wanneiger and Critz erred to put on Adams and Pick with none out. Webb's hit scored Adams and Wilson tore home a triple to right center, opening the gate for Pick and Webb.

BERLENBACH TO TRY COMEBACK
New York, June 26.—[U.P.]—Paul Berlenbach, once known as the "As-toria assassin" but who has found a period of depression in the assassination business of late, will return to the ring tomorrow night against Charles Rammel, billed as the heavyweight champion of Austria. Berlenbach, following the example of Jack Dempsey, retired after his last defeat but elected to forsake the light heavyweight division, of which he once was champion, and make a comeback in the heavyweight ranks. Rammel is little known in this country.

The marriage in Crown Point, Ind., June 14, of Laverne Dilweg, former Marquette university football captain and member of Walter Eckersall's mythical All-American team in 1925, to Eleanor Coleman, member of the 1924 American Olympic aquatic team, was admitted today by the bride and the bridegroom. The marriage had been kept a secret.

Robins, 7; Giants, 1.
Brooklyn, N. Y., June 26.—(AP)—Brooklyn turned back the Giants, 7 to 1, today. Dazzy Vance yielding only six hits, two of which were bunched in the ninth for New York's lone score. Benton, the Giants' starting pitcher, was wild and gave way to Songer after four innings. Score:

HOMEWOOD'S 26 DAYS OF RACING END THIS WEEK

May Announce $500,000 Improvements for Track.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The summer racing season at Washington Park swings into its final week today, and before the 26 day meeting comes to a close on Thursday it is expected that a $500,000 improvement program will be announced.

That such plans are under way was announced by General Manager C. W. Hay yesterday. The plans have been drawn up at conferences at which Manager Hay, Col. Matt Winz, Stuyvesant Peabody, Robert M. Switzer and other Chicagoans interested in the track were present. The work will begin immediately, it is said, and much of it will be finished before the thoroughbred return to Washington Park in September for a short fall meeting.

More Comfort for Spectators. Although the crowds at Washington Park have been much larger this year than last and the mutual betting handle has more than tripled that of last year and the racing has shown a big improvement the new owners of the plant believe that before Washington Park can attain greater popularity many improvements to provide more comfort for the spectators will have to be made.

All the space beneath the stands and on the lawn will be paved, according to the program. The mutual betting pavilion will be moved directly beneath the stand, and the paddock, administration building, and jockey huts will be enlarged with an almost complete overhauling of the clubhouse contemplated. When this work is finished Washington Park will rank with the better tracks in the country, in the opinion of General Manager Hay.

With Flat Iron, the winner of the Washington Park handicap championship, Girl Scout established as the best sprinter, and Hydromel the winner of the 3 year old title, there still remains a dispute as to which is the best 2 year old here.

Fleet Juveniles to Race. "This argument should be settled on Thursday in the running of the Homewood stakes, the closing day feature, which will bring most of the good juveniles into action. There may be two or three youngsters from the east here for the engagement and perhaps arrivals from Fairmount Park and Latonia.

The Blackstone Hotel handicap at a mile is today's feature and it has attracted a field of six, including Chicago, Dark Phantom, Moonraker, and St. Valentine.

With the opening at Lincoln Fields scheduled for Saturday, horses will be arriving on every train this week and even with the stable facilities at Lincoln Fields and Washington Park at his disposal, track superintendent Tom Young is having trouble finding room for all the horses that are intended for racing here. Lincoln Fields and Empire in New York will be the only tracks of importance operating in the United States during a greater part of July.

Maccabees Soccer Eleven Loses Another Game, 2-0

New York, June 26.—(AP)—For the second time in the four games they have played in this country, the Maccabee soccer team from Palestine met defeat today, losing to Indiana Flooring at the Polo grounds by 2 to 0. The invaders have lost 2, won 1 and tied 1.

Mid-Continent Telephone Company

One Year 5% Gold Notes

Due June 1, 1927

Dated June 1, 1927

Denominations $1,000 and $500. Coupon Notes registrable as to principal. Interest payable December 1 and June 1. Principal payable at the office of Chicago Trust Company, Trustee, Chicago. Redeemable at any time at the option of the company, "any day" published notice at 100%; and interest. Interest payable without deduction for normal Federal Income Tax not to exceed Reimbursement of all state personal property and income taxes to the extent of five (5) mills upon each dollar of principal, in Massachusetts income tax not to exceed six (6) per cent, upon proper and timely application as provided in the trust agreement.

CHICAGO TRUST COMPANY, CHIEF OFFICE, TRUSTEE

The company covenants that it will not make or permit to exist any mortgage, other than pure cash money obligations and liens existing on properties at the time of the acquisition thereof, except provision be made, as provided in the trust agreement, for the retirement of notes.

We summarize a letter to us from Mr. Herrick Johnson, Vice-President of the company, as follows:

PROPERTIES: Mid-Continent Telephone Company, a Delaware corporation, is organized to own and control, by means of the ownership of all stock of subsidiaries, telephone properties and systems furnishing service without competition, in proper sections of Texas, Arkansas and Wisconsin. Through subsidiaries and approximately 300 miles of toll pole leads, giving local service, without competition, to 7,434 telephone stations, 7,021 of which are company owned stations. All company exchanges have physical connection with the lines of Bell System, either directly or through its own toll lines. Thus, through satisfactory agreements, nation-wide service is assured. The total population in the areas served is estimated to be 135,000.
